

Paradise

Cold rain falling in the sky
As we meet here dancing through the night
Clouds moving like a train
Stars shining through the rain

I stand here gazing in your eyes
    Hoping you realize
Just what my heart is trying to say

Cool breeze sifting through the leaves
Branches dancing in the trees
Lightenings flash, thunders roll
Beating in rhythm with my soul

Rhapsodized within your eyes
    In euphoric trance
Hoping this is more than circumstance

Soothing rain, cool refreshing
Burning hands to skin undressing
With every quaking, trembling touch
Every breath just isn't enough

Until at last the earth is moved
The sky rips and tears apart
We, tumbling, crashing together
Weaving souls consumed forever

I lie here gazing in your eyes
    Hoping you realize
Just what my heart is trying to say.